Following on from the success of the work in the Macclesfield and Bollington Education Improvement Partnership where both the individual and group needs of a range of schools, KS1, KS2 and KS3/4 were met through a unique training programme. This unique approach has a proven track record of raising test scores, improving class and school climate, reducing discipline problems and at last... puts the FUN back into teaching and learning! Elaine and Gavin are 'Certified International Kagan Trainers'.

Elaine Brown explains the power of simple Kagan Cooperative Structures.

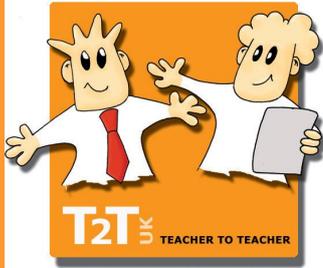

Gavin Clowes discusses the easy-to-use Kagan structures and their impact on student engagement and achievement.

TEACHER TO TEACHER (UK) Limited

Professional Development for your school, cluster or group!

Powerful and Proven Structures for Engagement.

Kagan Cooperative Learning Structures transform how teachers teach, not what they teach.

From the perspective of the teacher, the change is relatively easy– the teacher adopts new and exciting teaching strategies without abandoning proven lessons or curriculum.

From the perspective of the student, the change is welcome– classrooms become far more engaging. Students get to do what they most want to do: to be fully engaged and interact with their peers.

From a research perspective, the transformation aligns instruction with how the brain processes and retains information.

A Change That Lasts

Kagan Cooperative Structures improve the quality of teaching. Investing in teacher skills is a lasting investment. The structures increase teacher morale and retention rates and lead to sustained implementation.

Kagan CL Structures:

- * Increase Academic achievement
- * Develop social skills and character virtues
- * Improve ethnic relations
- * Emotional Intelligences
- * Enhance self-esteem
- * Reduce discipline problems
- * Help create the Inclusive School
- * Make Thinking Skills part of every lesson
- * Develop Multiple Intelligences
- * Improve class climate
